Al Ain University signs an MOU with Dresden University of Applied Sciences in Germany

Al Ain University (AAU) has signed a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the University of Applied Sciences Dresden in Germany with the aim of strengthening bilateral cooperation relations between the two sides in standard academic fields. The MOU was signed by Prof. Christoph Scholf, President of Dresden University, and Prof. Ghaleb Al-Refae, AAU President.

The MOU aims to enhance aspects of academic, cultural, and research exchange, contribute to the professional development of academics, cooperate in teaching and scientific research, and develop joint research projects in areas of interest to both universities at the level of all faculties and programs. The memorandum also promotes the exchange of faculty members, and students, in addition to, corporate events, conferences, and activities. The two parties also agreed to exchange educational and research projects, publish scientific research and discuss joint study programs, in addition to cooperating in the field of holding lifelong learning courses and exchanging vocational training for students in both countries.
