AAU Pavilion Popular among Visitors at AlGharbia 2012

Visitors and exhibition goers flocked Al Ain University of Science and Technology's pavilion at the Universities Fair - AlGharbia 2012 which took place at Madinat Zayed and Gayathi in the Western Region.

Through participating in the exhibition, AAU aims at opening channels of communication between students and parents on one side and AAU on the other. At the pavilion, AAU addressed all queries and questions by visitors and parents.

The Universities Fair – AlGharbia, organized by the Western Region Development Council, is an opportunity for students to get to know the university's programs. AAU offers different programs within its five colleges: the college of Engineering and Information Technology, the college of Pharmacy, the college of Law, the college of Education, and the college of Business Administration. The fair has also been an occasion to introduce students to the upcoming programs to be offered at AAU in the near future.

On his part, Dr. Abdelhafid Belarbi, AAU Vice President, highlighted that taking part at the fair represents a great chance to meet students, parents, educational institutions, and government entities such as ADEC and the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research to facilitate the exchange of experience.

Dr. Belarbi reiterated that AAU collaborates with the public and private sectors to identify the needs of the job market in order to provide the market with qualified cadres.

He added that AAU has shouldered the responsibility of supporting distinguished students and encouraging them to maintain their level of performance so as to effectively contribute to the prosperity of the community.
