On the occasion of the “World Post Day” ,, AAU Enhances the communication between students and teachers

In a special way, The Deanship of Student Affairs at Al Ain University of Science and Technology –Al Ain Campus- celebrated the “World Post Day” which comes on 9th of October yearly, where the deanship created a mailbox and invited all the university’s students to write letters to their favorite professors in dropping the letters with envelope and stamps on it. Then the deanship sorted the letters and delivered them for each professor, according to the written name on the envelope who liked the idea.

This idea aims to revive the letters style and to enhance communication between students and their teachers.
